SAFER Grants Bring Relief...at Last

My initial reaction when I heard that the U.S. Department of Homeland Security (DHS) released the first round of Fiscal Year 2009 SAFER grants on March 31 can be summarized in one word: Finally.

Many of you probably felt the same way.

I know how hard it's been the past two years for our locals across North America as the recession has skewed public budgets, led to widespread layoffs and jeopardized public safety and the safety of our members. Numbers don't lie — the fact that DHS received 2,128 applications for nearly $1.25 billion in grant requests for Fiscal Year 2009 underscores that this unrelenting recession has left many of our locals with staffing shortages.

For the 49 fire departments fortunate enough to be included in the Federal Emergency Management Agency's (FEMA) first round of grant recipients last month, I know the funding comes at a crucial time (see story on page 16).

For those affiliates that have had layoffs, the grants will get fire fighters from the unemployment lines to the frontlines almost immediately.

By our rough calculation, the $55.8 million in SAFER grants likely represents about 550 fire fighter jobs.

And for those departments still in the pipeline and awaiting their SAFER grant, it simply can't come fast enough.

But it's important to remember that much more help is on the way. The $55.8 million in SAFER grants awarded in March represents about one-third of the total amount of funding we expect fire departments to receive from FEMA in Fiscal Year 2009 funding, and we expect even more in Fiscal Year 2010, when $420 million will be available.

The first round of funding exposed some very serious concerns about the process that FEMA used to distribute funding. As we scanned the list of departments that will receive first-round funding, we knew there was a problem with the process FEMA used to compile that list.

So we met with DHS officials on April 6 to ask them why some departments that laid off fire fighters weren't getting grants in the first round.

Last year, stakeholders recommended that applications from departments with layoffs should be given the highest priority and should get funding before any other departments. It was also proposed that departments with reductions in force would be given second-highest priority and that departments that wanted funding to hire new personnel to make them compliant with NFPA standards would earn consideration next.

But FEMA failed to follow our recommendations. In our April 6 meeting, FEMA officials admitted that they ignored the ranking system proposed by stakeholders.

As you can imagine, we were disappointed by that news. They had no sound defense for their decision to ignore what national fire service organizations had unanimously recommended.

After our meeting, senior DHS/FEMA officials assured us that from now on they will give the highest priority to departments with layoffs.

SAFER funding addresses the single-most pressing issue in the fire service — staffing. After the recession began in December 2007, mayors and city managers everywhere began to balance their budgets by laying off fire fighters and other public employees.

We know how important it is to the safety of residents and our members to have all rigs fully staffed, and we know that we must do everything we can to get our members back on the job — to protect your safety and the safety of residents in the communities we are sworn to protect.

Despite this unfortunate snafu with some of the first round of SAFER grants, we must give FEMA credit for being responsive to us so far.

They essentially allowed us to change the rules that govern the use of SAFER grants so we can use the funds to rehire fire fighters who have been laid off and restore positions that are not being filled as a result of the current financial crisis. In addition, SAFER grants apply to municipalities that issued layoff notices before October 31, 2009, and have not yet taken effect.

And DHS Secretary Janet Napolitano helped us by delaying the 2009 application process to ensure that the $210 million that Congress appropriated for SAFER for Fiscal Year 2009 and the $420 million appropriated for Fiscal Year 2010 are available under the new guidelines.

We have worked hard to ensure greater access and eligibility to SAFER grants and increase the total amount of money available, and DHS and FEMA have been true partners all along the way, recognizing the devastating effect that the country's economic condition is having on fire departments, our locals and the public safety of people in communities across the country.

We know how badly you need the funds from SAFER. When FEMA awarded its first round of SAFER grants last month it was an important step — but it was just a first step. For many of our locals, SAFER funding is a lifeline, and we are doing everything we can to extend that lifeline to you.

2010 Legislative Conference Wrap-up

I have just a few thoughts on our 2010 Legislative Conference.

It was great to see so many of you attend what I routinely describe as one of the IAFF's most important annual events.

We were in a new space this year — the Hilton Washington — that provided us noticeably more space.

I was very pleased with our lineup of bipartisan speakers (see story on page 12). Every year we strive to ensure that the Conference provides the best information and most recent updates on our impressive legislative efforts. I think we accomplished that this year.

Moving Ahead, With a Nod to the Past

As I continue to acclimate myself to this new position, I remain in awe of Vinnie Bollon's accomplishments, and I am humbled to follow in the footsteps of someone with such a profound legacy.

But even as we look back on Vinnie's career and thank him for his service, we also must look forward to ensure that we continue to provide all of our members the level of service, accountability and the financial stability that you expect and deserve.

Vinnie's retirement and this transition allow us to engage in some profound self-examination at the International and shine the light on ourselves to see how we're doing.

The General President and I, along with our staffs, have spent many hours over the past three months discussing whether we can improve what we do for you, and how to improve what we do for you.

Most importantly, we want to preserve what we do best and modify what we think can be improved. We will retain the best of what we inherit and make the appropriate changes elsewhere so we are doing the best job possible and ensure that your needs are met.

Whatever we do will be based on my personal philosophy that the 297,000 members of the IAFF are paying the freight — we are working for you, and I remind the staff of the General Secretary-Treasurer's office of that fact every day.

And because I do not work in a vacuum, I will be coming to many of you to ask you for your ideas to make the General Secretary-Treasurer's office as efficient as possible to be sure that we are doing everything we can to protect the finances of the International. As we begin this new journey together, I invite all your ideas.

Thomas H. Miller

But I also have many ideas of my own that I would like to pursue.

For the sake of convenience, I believe we must expand electronic per capita payments. Allowing our locals to pay dues electronically is nothing more than a common-sense approach to doing business in the 21st Century.

We must also continue to automate all of the business processes within the IAFF.

With the 2010 Convention in San Diego fast approaching, I am hopeful that we will be able to implement a registration process that relies on bar codes and scanners to get delegates seated much more quickly and conveniently.

Speaking of the Convention, you should have received the Convention Call by now. The Convention web site also is up and will be updated regularly so you have the most recent information about lodging, key dates and the agenda.

In addition, credentials for the 2010 Convention have been mailed.

I am very hopeful that we can identify key areas to improve the General Secretary-Treasurer's office.

But I am not blind — I realize that I inherited a office that already was on solid ground. My responsibility is to ensure that the foundation remains solid, that the house remains in order and that our new programs and initiatives strengthen this great union.

Keep Up the Fight

Dear President Schaitberger:
As they say, a tip of the helmet to you for your message “Standing Firm” (January-February 2010). Having retired from the fire service in 1994 after 32 years and a member of IAFF Local 1589, I felt that I was in good shape when I retired with a fair pension and a good medical benefit package.

There wasn't any escalator clause in the pension I receive, but the benefits made up for it. Now however, I have been quite concerned about the president's health care plan and the so-called Cadillac health care.

It gives me a good feeling to know that although I have been retired for 16 years, the International is still fighting for all of us.

Thank you,
Bruce E. Rice
Narragansett, RI Local 1589

Remembering Al Walker

Dear President Schaitberger:
I would like to thank you for the beautiful floral tribute from you and the IAFF in recognition and remembrance of R.A. (Al) Walker, retired member of Local 1190, Red Deer Fire Fighters, Red Deer, Alberta, Canada.

Al passed away January 14, 2010, losing the fight to colon cancer diagnosed in October 2006. He joined the City of Red Deer Fire Department in 1965, working until his retirement in 1996. His death is recognized as ‘in the line of duty’ — thanks to the diligence and hard work of the IAFF, IAFF affiliates across Canada and, more specifically, the Alberta Fire Fighters Association and Red Deer Local 1190. As a result of their lobby efforts, presumptive legislation was passed in Alberta in 2003, recognizing the long-lasting effects of the fire fighting profession and providing the fire fighter community continuing care for occupational related illness.

Because of this legislation, the Workers' Compensation Board Alberta has been involved in Al's care since his initial diagnosis and treatment in Phuket, Thailand. The WCBA's support has certainly helped decrease the stress — both financially and personally — during Al's illness, and I thank them for that.

I have no words to adequately express my thanks to Local 1190, both current and retired members, and the Red Deer Emergency Services Administration for their friendship, care and support extended to us through Al's working years, retirement and illness.

The memorial service was an incredible honor and tribute to his life. The fire fighter family is large, and I would like to include and extend our thanks to the members from other locals for their participation, making the time and effort to join us.

Al was not one for being in the limelight, preferring the low key approach, but would have approved, knowing that his memorial service would increase the general population's awareness of the long-reaching effects of the job on the health and welfare of career fire fighters.

Sincerely,
Karen Walker and Family

PEP Success

Dear President Schaitberger:
The IAFF Partnership Education Program (PEP) that we hosted on February 15 was a huge success. As always, our members relayed to us that they learned a great deal, that the instructors were excellent and that the materials were well put together. The PEP is an invaluable tool for our local and I am very pleased that the IAFF continues to offer it.

I was especially impressed with the instructors. I had a chance to eat dinner with them and they joined us at our legislative reception as well.

They all are complete professionals. They were organized, friendly and knowledgeable.

My assistant worked with Lisa deBos in getting ready for this program and I understand she also did a fantastic job of putting this program together for the Indiana fire fighters.

We continue to appreciate all that you do and look forward to hosting an IAFF PEP again in 2011.

Political Opinion Epilogue

Dear President Schaitberger:
I just received my January February issue of the International Fire Fighter magazine. Thank you for printing my letter. I did notice two errors though.

First, my figure about 125,000 immigrants entering the country every month should have read “legal” immigrants, not “illegal.” No one knows for sure how many illegals enter the country every month. Before the economic downturn, estimates put that number at between 100,000 and 200,000 per month. Today, estimates are as low as 50,000. But with 30,000-plus Americans losing their jobs every month, 50,000 is still too many.

The other error is that I am a member of Berwyn, IL local 506, not Pennsylvania.

Again, thank you for printing the letter. I hope it opens the eyes of those who continue to support politicians who — while they say they love and support fire fighters — are pulling the rug out from under us; whether it is out of ignorance or malice is inconsequential, especially to those who have lost their jobs, and those of us who are losing wages, benefits and watching our working conditions changed for the negative.

Committed to Diversity

Dear President Schaitberger:
I want to thank you and extend my appreciation for the inclusion of the CLUW (Coalition for Labor Union Women) national officers at the IAFF Human Relations conference in Orlando.

CLUW National President Karen See and Treasurer Judy Beard were truly impressed with the Conference opening ceremony and very honored to be in attendance. I also received wonderful feedback from Carolyn Williams from IBEW who participated in the Town Hall meeting on behalf of CLUW.

The IAFF continues to prove how committed we are to diversity in the fire service and labor movement. For that, I am very proud and I thank you.

Thank you, again, for your continued support and for recognizing the importance of the Coalition of Labor Union Women.

Fraternally,

Clackamas Fire Fighters Help Fire Fighters Worldwide

Global Mission Readiness (GMR) — a non-profit rescue skills training organization started by a group of Clackamas, OR Local 1159 fire fighters — has returned from its first solo mission after several overseas missions partnered with other relief organizations.

The fire fighters went to Peru to teach shore-based water rescue to fire fighters in the town of Caraz and the city of Cusco. “This trip was especially timely for Cusco, as they had just experienced flash flooding,” says Brandon Paxton, Local 1159 member and spokesperson for Global Mission Readiness.

Paxton adds, “With the donated equipment we brought and the training we provided, GMR feels confident that the Peruvian fire fighters will be ready to better respond to the next disaster.”

A total of 68 fire fighters received the training, which included self-rescue, shore-based operations and first-aid training.

Maine Fire Fighter Death Benefits Broaden to Protect Families

Thanks to the steadfast lobbying efforts by the Professional Fire Fighters of Maine (PFFM) and Lewiston, ME Local 785, Maine Legislative Document (LD) 1558, “An Act Regarding Accidental Death Benefits for the Beneficiaries of Deceased Firefighters,” will soon become state law. LD 1558 was passed by the House 143-0 and the Senate followed suit with a 33-2 vote. The legislation now is on the governor’s desk awaiting his signature.

“This is a great victory for all of Maine’s professional fire fighters and their families,” says PFFM President John Martell. “Now, if the worst happens, and we hope it doesn’t, we know our families will be protected.”

The bill provides an accidental death benefit to the family of a professional fire fighter who dies from cardiac or pulmonary disease in the line of duty within six months of fire fighter duty. The death benefit is retroactive to November 1, 2004.

“Unfortunately, we were not aware the law needed to change until the tragic death of one of our brothers — Roland Levesque,” says Local 785 President Rick Cailler. “Levesque died 48 hours after working a fire, but because of the language in the current law, his family was ineligible to receive benefits.” Levesque died in 2004 of a heart attack 48 hours after a working fire and had 23 years on the job.

In the Maine Public Employees Retirement System, there are two types of death benefits. Ordinary is when the death occurs outside of employment or employment duties. Accidental death is when the person dies while on the job or during the course of employment. The benefits paid to beneficiaries are generally greater as the result of accidental death.

In Levesque’s case, his death was ruled ordinary, meaning the death was not in the line of duty, even though the board that hears worker’s compensation claims ruled that his death was in the line of duty. “We did some research and found out that very few deaths were ruled accidental unless the employee was ‘in the saddle,’ so to speak,” says Cailler.

Working in close partnership with the PFFM, Local 785 began lobbying in the state capital to create and pass LD 1558. Their efforts garnered bi-partisan support. In fact, the bill passed unanimously out of the state legislature’s Joint Standing Committee on Labor before passing unanimously in the house and by significant majority in the senate. ■

Canadian IAFF Members Keep Olympians Safe

As the 2010 Olympic and Paralympic Games were taking place in Vancouver, Canada, several IAFF members were among those providing protection for the athletes and spectators. The effort, dubbed Operation PODIUM, was led by the Royal Canadian Mounted Police (RCMP).

From Left: Guelph, ON Local 467 member Brandon Tavares, Hamilton, ON Local 288 member Rick Fuller, Halifax, NS Local 268 member Paul Edwards, Hamilton, ON Local 288 member Mike Gould, and New Westminster, BC Local 256 member Robert MacDonald.

Guelph, ON Local 467 fire fighter Brandon Tavares, Hamilton, ON Local 288 fire fighters Rick Fuller and Mike Gould, Halifax, NS Local 268 fire fighter Paul Edwards and Westminister, BC Local 256 fire fighter Robert MacDonald are also members of the Canadian Naval Reserve. Their positions within the reserve made them eligible to participate in the operation.

Their duties largely consisted of providing maritime surveillance, port security and diver operations. "There was a lot of preparation and effort that went into this operation," says Edwards. "I don't think any of us would have traded this experience." ■

Albuquerque President Back to Union Work

The County of Bernalillo Second Judicial District Court in New Mexico has ruled in favor of Albuquerque Local 244 in its prohibited practice lawsuit against the City of Albuquerque. In its ruling, the court ordered the City to honor the collective bargaining agreement by allowing Local 244 President Diego Arencon to return to his 40-hour work week exclusively dedicated to union business.

"In this case, the language in the labor-management agreement was very specific," says IAFF General President Harold Schaitberger. "The local president is a valuable asset to not only Albuquerque fire fighters, but also to the community as a whole. It would behoove the City to embrace this fact."

"I am thankful that the court has handed down this just ruling so that I can focus on the business of not only serving and protecting Local 244 members, but also ensuring that the community continues to receive high-quality public safety services," says Arencon.

In January 2010, Local 244 filed the suit after the City ordered Arencon to report to the fire administration for assignments, which would not include conducting union business. The move was in direct violation of the labor-management agreement, which states: "To develop a more cohesive relationship between the union and the Albuquerque Fire Department, upon the request of the union president, to place the union president on a 40-hour work week for union business."

Mayor Richard Berry and his administration alleged that New Mexico state statute does not allow City employees to conduct union business on City time. But, when the case was reviewed in court, District Judge Theresa Baca found no discrepancy between New Mexico state statutes and City employees receiving regular pay while conducting union business.

"We have some solid ideas on how to work with the City to save money while maintaining public safety and other important services. We hope the City and Management Associates will have a change of heart and hear us out before it is too late."

—Diego Arencon, President Local 244

As litigation continued, Local 244 presented several witnesses, including Arencon, former Local 244 President and current Fire Chief John Garcia, former Fire Chief Robert Ortega and others.

The testimony brought forth several key points: (1) Contract language allows union presidents to use work hours for union business and (2) The practice has been ongoing for more than 12 years.

Additionally, it was noted that allowing union presidents to conduct union

Canadian Locals Hold Rooftop Fundraisers

The members of Edmonton, AB Local 209 had company this year for their fifth annual rooftop campout fundraiser for Muscular Dystrophy Canada March 9-12. IAFF members of Strathcona County, AB Local 2461 and Winnipeg, MB Local 867 also staged their own rooftop campouts for MDC. Residents in each community were encouraged to visit campout sites or local firehalls to make donations, which totaled $150,000. For more information, visit www.muscle.ca/campout. ■ business during regular work hours prevented labor unrest, allowed personnel issues to be resolved quickly, enabled the union president to be the voice of Albuquerque fire fighters during state legislative sessions and made it possible for the union to work toward securing life-saving resources — such as a new paramedic rescue unit — for the City.

During the legal proceedings, the court noted that the City did not provide any testimony or evidence that contradicted the union's position. Therefore, the court ordered that Arencon be allowed to return to his 40-hour work week consisting exclusively of union business.

"Throughout this legal process, I am proud to say that my executive board and I continued to work hard for our members," says Arencon. "We have a proud membership of over 850 active fire fighters who depend on us. Words cannot express how thankful I am to the dedication the executive board has shown throughout this process."

Despite this positive ruling, Mayor Berry is continuing his anti-labor practices by refusing to meet with Local 244 and other unions on important topics such as the $20 million shortfall in the FY 2010 budget and the projected $54 million shortfall in the FY 2011 budget.

Union leaders believe this is due, in part, to Berry's administration contract with Management Associates Inc. The firm is known around the state to be anti-labor.

"We have some solid ideas on how to work with the City to save money while maintaining public safety and other important services," says Arencon. "We hope the City and Management Associates will have a change of heart and hear us out before it is too late." ■

Brotherhood Ride Honors Fallen Texas Fire Fighters

Approximately 30 fire fighters, EMS personnel and police officers will ride their bicycles from Tallahassee, Florida, to Houston, Texas, to honor fallen Houston, TX Local 341 fire fighters James Harlow and Damion Hobbs. The 10-day 3rd Annual Brotherhood Ride begins April 1.

Harlow and Hobbs were among the first on the scene of a southeast Houston house fire. The two went inside to look for possible trapped victims, but didn't make it out.

Brotherhood Ride cyclists were scheduled to arrive in Houston April 10, two days before the one-year anniversary of the deaths of Harlow and Hobbs. "We do this because we want to emphasize to the families that their fallen loved ones will not be forgotten," says North Naples, FL Local 2297 member Jeff Morse, the event's organizer.

Morse organized the first ride after nine Charleston, South Carolina, fire fighters died in the Sofa Super Store fire on June 18, 2007. "We rode 600 miles from Naples, Florida, to Charleston because we felt it was the right thing to do," says Morse.

This year, the riders will receive a police and fire escort for the entire 800-plus miles and will stay in Elk lodges each night.

Donations the riders receive directly benefit the Harlow and Hobbs families. ■

Maine Fire Fighter Awarded the Bronze Star

Augusta, ME Local 1650 fire fighter James Worcester has been awarded the United States Armed Forces Bronze Star Medal for brave actions he took on June 3, 2007. Worcester is a member of the National Guard and serves as a Sergeant in Company A, 1st Battalion, 121st Field Artillery Regiment.

In 2007, Worcester was serving as a Truck Commander and Medic in support of operation Iraqi Freedom. During his tour, a fellow soldier was wounded by an improvised explosive device.

Worcester responded quickly, providing emergency medical aid. He was able to stabilize the wounded soldier and sent him to a secure medical facility via MEDEVAC.

Upon review, United States Army officials deemed Worcester's actions saved the life of that soldier, making him worthy of the Bronze Star Medal.

Worcester is now preparing for another deployment. This time, he will go to Afghanistan for a year-long tour. ■

Jacksonville Fire Fighters Send Flag to Ground Zero

An American flag erected on a man-made island off the coast of Jacksonville, Florida, commemorating the 343 FDNY fire fighters who died on September 11, 2001, is on display at Ground Zero for a few weeks before it returns to Jacksonville for permanent display.

Every day, Jacksonville Local 122 member Skip Smith passed by Find Island, a mound of dredged material from the construction of the Wonderwood and the Beach Boulevard bridges.

"It looked like an unclaimed island just calling for a flag," says Smith. He and other Local 122 members erected the flag on September 11, 2009.

Upon hearing about the fire fighters' flag project, the Jacksonville Transit Authority — which owns Find Island — supported the idea immediately. It agreed to rename the island "Hill 343" in honor of New York's fallen and even worked with Jacksonville fire fighters to get a solar-powered light source to illuminate the flag at night.

News of the flag also spread to U.S. Representative Ander Crenshaw's (R-FL) office. Representative Crenshaw contacted the New York City Veterans Affairs Office to request that the flag be temporarily displayed at Ground Zero. The office agreed and the flag is currently on its way to New York.

Hill 343 is visible from Atlantic Boulevard driving over the Intercoastal Waterway in Jacksonville. ■

Oklahoma Fire Fighter Studies Lack of Seatbelt Use

While heart attacks remain the most frequent cause of fire fighter deaths, another leading cause is injuries sustained from vehicle accidents. Of those accidents, 21 percent of fire fighters were ejected from the vehicle during the collision.

As part of his pursuit to earn a master's degree in fire emergency management at Oklahoma State University, Oklahoma City, OK Local 157 fire fighter Matt McNabb recently conducted a statewide survey to determine actual use of on-duty seatbelt use and possible ways to increase usage.

"This project was more than filling a degree requirement for me," says McNabb. "I hope my findings will help save some lives."

The Oklahoma City fire fighter sent surveys to 17 fire departments and received 588 individual responses. Some of the results included:

- 94 percent of the fire department vehicles have seatbelts
- 48.5 percent had not received seat belt training
- 45.5 percent of fire fighters said they always wore their seatbelts
- 41.8 percent said they had been in at least one on-duty vehicle accident

McNabb also found that if a fire fighter did not wear a seatbelt, it was because the fire fighter was still putting on fire protective gear which is not possible with the seatbelt on.

As part of his recommendations, McNabb suggested a change in procedure requirements to encourage fire fighters to finish putting on gear before getting into fire apparatus.

His survey is on file in the Oklahoma

Winnipeg, MB Local 867 President Alex Forrest (left) donated money raised by the local to the Manitoba Red Cross for its relief efforts in the wake of the January 12 earthquake in Haiti. The local raised the funds by accepting donations at firehalls. Winnipeg Local 867 has raised $54,292 so far for Haiti relief, which includes matching federal government funds. Arizona Local Gains Meet and Confer Rights Northwest Fire District Local 3572 is the latest in a string of Arizona locals to gain the right to meet and confer. The District board voted unanimously to upgrade Local 3572's right to collectively bargain on January 26, 2010.

Local 3572 first gained the right to meet and discuss in 2000. Since then, fire fighters have been working toward a more formal process. "The management has consistently been willing to sit down and talk with us; however, the follow-through on promises has not always been consistent," says Local 3572 President Kyle Canty.

Last year, Local 3572 fire fighters contacted Professional Fire Fighters of Arizona Executive Vice President Bryan Jeffries, who has helped several Arizona locals gain the right to meet and confer.

Jeffries helped local members draft proposal language and present it to the board. The Northwest Fire District Board voted unanimously in favor of meet and confer, benefiting more than 180 fire fighters.

A date has not been set to begin negotiating for a memorandum of understanding. ■

Three Generations of Los Angeles County Fire Fighters

After Daniel Wagner graduated from the fire academy, he became the third consecutive generation in the Whitehead family to become a Los Angeles County fire fighter and member of Los Angeles County Local 1014.

Wagner followed in the footsteps of his grandfather, IAFF General President Emeritus and former president of Local 1014 Al Whitehead and his son, Captain Ken Whitehead.

"As anyone might guess, Daniel was exposed to the fire service and the labor movement from a very early age," says IAFF General President Emeritus Whitehead, who served as a Los Angeles County fire fighter from 1954-1982. "We could not be more proud that he has chosen to enter our noble profession."

"The fire service is definitely in our blood," says Ken Whitehead, Daniel's uncle. "I was inspired by my father and I hope that Daniel's career is as rewarding as mine and his grandfather's."

Wagner graduated, officially becoming a fire fighter, on February 19, 2010. ■

IAFF General President Emeritus Al Whitehead and Ken Whitehead are proud to announce Daniel Wagner (center) will continue their fire fighter family tradition.

More than 850 delegates attended the 2010 Alfred K. Whitehead Legislative Conference at the Hilton Washington in Washington, DC, to lobby congressional leaders on several fire fighter issues, including collective bargaining, understaffing, re-authorization of the Assistance to Firefighters (FIRE Act) and Staffing for Adequate Fire and Emergency Response (SAFER) grant programs, funding for the Urban Search and Rescue Teams response system, medical monitoring and treatment programs for 9/11 responders and federal fire fighter pension reform.

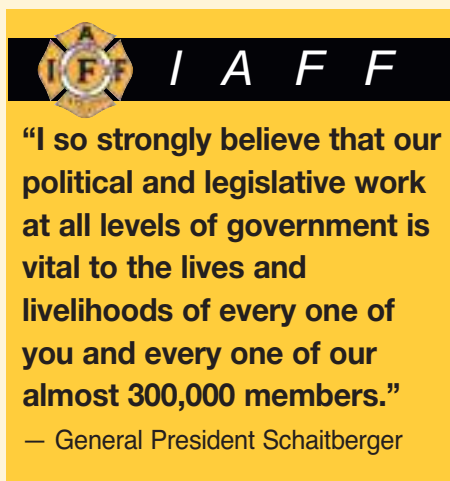

Speaking at the Conference, IAFF General President Harold Schaitberger said, “I so strongly believe that our political and legislative work at all levels of government is vital to the lives and livelihoods of every one of you and every one of our almost 300,000 members.”

However, Schaitberger acknowledged that the work will be an uphill battle, even after the 2008 election saw many fire fighter supporters elected or re-elected to office. “With so many positive political signs more than a year ago, with so many friends in power, I would never have predicted that we would still be waiting for collective bargaining — our signature proposal,” he said.

Schaitberger also expressed frustration with the prolonged health care debate and the fight against a proposed excise tax which would have taxed IAFF member health care plans.

“We’re not going to reform health care on the backs of our members who fought for their plans over the last several decades,” said Schaitberger. “And we are not about to allow anyone to place the cost of health care reform at the feet of the hard-working men and women of this union.” (See the story, “What Does Health Care Reform Mean for Fire Fighters?” on page 22.)

While Schaitberger had harsh words for some, he applauded some congressional leaders, including Speaker of the House Nancy Pelosi (D-CA), U.S. Representatives Steny Hoyer (D-MD) and George Miller (D-CA), U.S. Senate Majority Leader Harry Reid (D-NV) and U.S. Senators Dick Durbin (D-IL) and Tom Harkin (D-IA) for supporting the IAFF and fighting for fire fighters.

Schaitberger also acknowledged Department of Labor Secretary Hilda Solis for improving worker safety, Department of Homeland Security Secretary Janet Napolitano for helping make positive changes to the SAFER grant program, Department of Agriculture Secretary Tom Vilsack for addressing important wildland fire issues and Department of Health and Human Services Secretary Kathleen Sebelius for keeping the IAFF Hazmat training fully resourced and for her continued support for line-of-duty death investigations.

However, he cautioned, the IAFF and its members must stay focused regarding the important issues on the International’s legislative agenda.

“We aren’t going anywhere, except to Capitol Hill, where we will keep on working, where we will keep on fighting, every day,” said Schaitberger. “Let’s get to work, let’s get the job done for those on the frontlines — for the men and women of this great union.”

Fire Fighter Issues Have High-Profile Support

As the nation continues to experience rough waters economically, fire fighter involvement in the labor movement is becoming increasingly important in order to preserve jobs, fair wages, benefits and resources. At the IAFF 2010 Legislative Conference, an array of high-profile speakers repeatedly emphasized that the best way to accomplish this is through political action, and vowed their support of fire fighter issues.

The Legislative Conference occurred at the time the Health Care Reform Bill was scheduled to go to a vote. Consequently, the excise tax on high-cost health care plans was in the forefront of the minds of many. If the proposed tax had remained in its original form, it would have adversely affected fire fighters health care either by raising insurance premiums or cutting health benefits.

U.S. Representative Joseph Courtney (D-CT) was one of the IAFF’s biggest champions in the fight against the provision. Speaking at the Legislative Conference, Courtney said he was inspired to work against this provision by the New London, CT Local 1522 fire fighters who told him that “some of the health packages that had been bargained for already hit the ‘Cadillac health care’ threshold.”

Courtney added, “I didn’t want any middle class workers to start going backward because of a health care reform bill.”

U.S. Representative Xavier Becerra (D-CA), who also opposed the excise tax, gave credit to General President Schaitberger for removing the teeth from the provision. “Because of what he did, the fire fighters’ burden was lessened.”

General President Schaitberger told attending fire fighters that they could also find a fire fighter champion in U.S. Secretary of Labor Hilda Solis, calling her “a true advocate of workers and organized labor.”

Solis proved that to be true in her address to fire fighter delegates, expressing her Department’s support of the IAFF’s collective bargaining bill, “Some people say that, given the state of the economy, we can’t afford unions right now. Well, they got it wrong. Workers are facing unprecedented challenges and they need a voice at the table. Fire fighters and other first responders should have the right to form a union and bargain with their employer.”

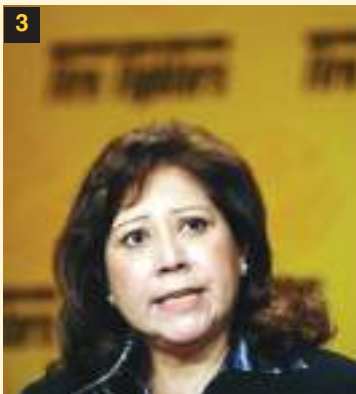

Schaitberger introduced another labor champion — U.S. Senator Sherrod Brown (D-OH). “Ted Kennedy was truly labor’s senator and, more than anyone, our next speaker is the heir to that legacy,” he said. “He doesn’t just support our issues, he lives and breathes labor issues 24/7.”

In his remarks, Brown credited the labor movement for getting the country out of economic slumps in the past and said he felt it would be labor that would, once again, reinvigorate the country.

He pledged his ongoing commitment to many issues important to fire fighters, including collective bargaining and the reauthorization of the FIRE Act and SAFER grant programs.

And U.S. Secretary of Transportation Ray LaHood pledged his support for

Special Tribute to Vincent J. Bollon

After 50 years of service to the labor movement and professional fire fighters, 21 of which was spent as IAFF General-Secretary Treasurer, Vincent J. Bollon retired January 15, 2010. More than 1,200 colleagues, friends and family members attended a special dinner to honor Bollon and celebrate his retirement on March 16, 2010, during the IAFF Legislative Conference in Washington, DC.

Retired Uniformed Firefighters Association of New York Local 94 member Dennis Smith emceed the event. Speakers included: IAFF General President Harold Schaitberger, former IAFF 1st District Vice President and New York State Professional Fire Fighters

Association President Jim McGowan and retired UFA Local 94 fire fighters Charlie McCarthy and Bernie Cassidy.

Each was as quick to remember how many lives Vinnie saved, how many fire fighter jobs he saved and how many fire fighter benefits he won. For all that he has done, they all expressed their gratitude.

“When we joined together 10 years ago in an historic election that brought the two principal officers together on a ticket for the first time, our partnership and the bond of our commitment to this union became one,” said Schaitberger.

He added, “We can never fully repay you for what you’ve done for us. Your reauthorizing the law governing the transportation of hazardous materials, which provides funds to the IAFF to train fire fighters to safely respond to hazardous materials incidents. “Last year’s budget for the IAFF training was quadrupled to one million dollars. Because of this, hundreds more fire fighters benefited. This year, I will be working hard to pass the reauthorization bill,” he promised.

Turning to the November 2010 election cycle, U.S. Senator and Chair of the National Republican Senatorial Committee John Cornyn (R-TX) and Democratic National Committee Chair Tim Kaine were on hand to talk about the future of their respective parties.

Senator Cornyn noted that several seats would be contested in November, and saw it as an opportunity for Republicans to gain seats, while Kaine brought attention to the division in the Republican Party — the traditional Republicans versus the Tea Party supporters. But, both said their candidates would need labor’s support in order for their campaigns to be successful.

U.S. Representative Kendrick Meek (D-FL) is already getting labor support through the Florida Professional Firefighters in his campaign for U.S. Senate.

While discussing his support of the IAFF’s initiative to increase USAR team funding, Meek told delegates that he would be forever changed by what he witnessed Miami-Dade Local 1403 fire fighters doing as part of Florida’s USAR team — TF1.

Also speaking at the Conference were: U.S. Secretary of Health and Human Services Kathleen Sebelius and U.S. Representatives Chris Van Hollen (D-MD), Gerry Connolly (D-VA), John Sarbanes (D-MD), Mike McMahon (D-NY), Betty Sutton (D-OH), James Clyburn (D-SC) and Duncan Hunter (R-CA) and Political Columnist Mark Shields.

Fire departments across the country received good news on March 31 when the Department of Homeland Security's (DHS) Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) announced the first round of grant awards through the Staffing for Adequate Fire and Emergency Response (SAFER) program for Fiscal Year 2009.

The news came as welcome relief for many IAFF affiliates that continue to face layoffs, staffing reductions, station closures and wage and benefit concessions as local governments lose revenue.

But some departments with substantial layoffs weren't part of this initial round of funding.

The IAFF met with FEMA officials April 6 to urge them to give fire departments with layoffs the highest priority and provide funding to those departments before other grants are awarded.

"We understand there is some frustration among departments that weren't included in this long-awaited first round of funding," says IAFF General President Harold Schaitberger. "However, funding is on the way and these initial grant awards are a significant first step to help fire departments that are reeling from layoffs and reductions in force as a result of the economic crisis."

In this first round of funding, which represents $55 million of the $210 million available, 49 departments were awarded a grant. Most were for new hires, but some were handed down to departments like Flint, Michigan, that are decimated by massive layoffs.

The new provision allowing departments to apply for the grant to rehire fire fighters laid off as a result of the economic crisis was written and lobbied for by the IAFF. As part of the provision, cities are not required to provide matching dollars.

"We needed to help our locals that have fallen victim to the harsh economy," Schaitberger says. "The IAFF is grateful that help is on the way for so many of our affiliates in need. But, we anxiously await future rounds of awards so that more of our members can be safe on the job as they protect their communities."

The Flint, Michigan, fire department has been hit with massive layoffs over the past year. FEMA gave the City a $6.7 million grant to rehire 39 fire fighters.

"We are hopeful that bringing back those fire fighters will help us reopen two of our previously closed fire stations," says Flint Local 352 President Raul Garcia.

"After the layoffs, the City became extremely dangerous for all of us. Truly, this will be a positive step toward making all of us safer," Garcia says.

St. Bernard Parish Station 6, which is under post-Katrina reconstruction, will be staffed with fire fighters funded by a $875,570 SAFER grant.

When 39 fire fighters were laid off last year, the fire department's ability to keep up with emergency calls — an average of 8,000 annually — was greatly hindered by the gross lack of resources.

In April 2010, 23 more fire fighters were laid off and the situation in Flint went from bad to worse. Following those layoffs, more than 50 incidents of suspected arson occurred throughout the City in less than two weeks.

During some shifts, fire fighters were responding to calls nonstop.

"We all began to worry that we might lose one of our own in the line of duty because of low staffing and fire fighter fatigue," says Garcia.

With the announcement of the SAFER grant award, City officials are promising to begin rehires almost immediately.

Other cities that received SAFER grants also were in dire need of funding.

St. Bernard Parish, Louisiana, which is still recovering from the devastation of Hurricane Katrina in 2005, received an $875,570 SAFER grant. The money will allow the parish to fill 13 vacant positions.

After Hurricane Katrina rolled into the Parish, all 10 of its fire stations were wiped out or rendered unusable. Since the storm, the stations have been slowly renovated. With the new hires, the Parish can open two fire stations that have been shuttered since the storm.

"Even though the population has dwindled in our Parish post-Katrina, we still need all of our fire stations staffed because the population is spread out over a large number of miles," says Local 1468 President Troy Serigne. "Without opened fire stations, we are responding from longer distances, increasing response times to between 15 and 20 minutes in some areas."

With the new hires, Local 1468 fire fighters believe that response times will be significantly reduced and that fire ground operations will be greatly enhanced.

Springfield, Missouri, will be able to hire 13 new fire fighters thanks to a $1,306,295 SAFER grant.

Staffing there was depleted by 17 through attrition because the City's economic condition prohibited those positions from being refilled. The economic decline also created a shortfall in available overtime funds; therefore, the City could not keep all of the fire stations staffed and implemented rolling closures of fire stations citywide.

As a result, response times rose dramatically. "We have noticed a significant rise in property loss due to fires, but have been lucky that no deaths or significant injuries have resulted from our shortages," says Local 152 President Shawn Martin.

With the addition of the 13 fire fighters, the rolling fire station closures are expected to stop.

Also in this first round of funding, Kern County in Bakersfield, California, received a grant award that will help fill 27 vacant positions. Because of the lack of staffing, nine of the County's 46 fire stations are woefully understaffed. In fact, most engines run with just two fire fighters per apparatus.

"Without a sufficient number of fire fighters, operations have been affected, not in just the area surrounding those nine fire stations, but throughout the county," says Kern County Local 1301 President Derek Robinson. "It was especially tough during the wild land fire season last summer."

While the SAFER grant is good news, fire fighters are still concerned about the future. "Even with federal assistance, the County's budget remains tight. Future cuts have not been ruled out."

In Fitchburg, Massachusetts, members of Fitchburg Local 3128 have been responding to calls with just half the number of fire fighters needed to do so safely and effectively. About a decade ago, Fitchburg had approximately 130 fire fighters. Today, there are 65.

With the $389,516 SAFER grant, eight new fire fighters will fill positions left open through attrition.

"Fire fighters in Fitchburg, with the help of IAFF 3rd District Vice President Mike Mullane and the Professional Fire Fighters of Massachusetts, have been doing what they can through concessions and other strategies to help their City weather its ongoing economic shortfall," says PFFM Bob McCarthy. "Still, that was not enough to maintain adequate staffing levels. This grant really is a godsend for them."

Without the eight new fire fighters, Fitchburg faced a station closure and dramatic increases in response times.

The Commonwealth of Massachusetts has been proactive in applying for SAFER grants to help stem widespread layoffs, and four IAFF affiliates were awarded grants in excess of $4 million. The largest of the grants, totaling more than $760,000, went to Malden Local 902. Other locals receiving grants included Pittsfield Local 2647 and Melrose Local 1617.

In 2009, the IAFF and its local affiliates in Massachusetts successfully lobbied the governor's office to allocate more than $17 million in Recovery Act funds to a competitive grant program aimed at bringing laid-off fire fighters back to work.

Although a great success for many struggling IAFF locals, the Recovery Act grants had some unintended consequences

Jurisdictions like Flint, Michigan, are seeing response times escalate due to insufficient available fire fighters. Hiring new or re-hiring laid off fire fighters make faster, safer response possible.

with regards to the SAFER grants.

The Recovery Act grants fund fire fighter positions for a full 12 months, keeping IAFF members on the job through fall 2010. With federal laws prohibiting the duplication of grants, the SAFER period of eligibility for layoffs overlaps with many of the Recovery Act awards. This has left many locals, such as Fall River Local 1314 — with more than 40 layoffs — in the uncomfortable position of staring down the fall expiration dates of the Recovery Act grants without the ability to apply for SAFER grants to replace them.

The IAFF is continuing to work with FEMA on this issue.

Despite the fact that Cincinnati, Ohio, was awarded a $6.9 million SAFER grant — enough for 40 fire fighters — staffing remains a question mark.

"Because our City is in such financial dire straits, the City almost did not to apply for the SAFER grant," says Cincinnati Local 48 President Marc Monahan. "The only way that the City can accept the grant is if FEMA grants us a waiver."

Because economic hardship is so widespread, FEMA agreed to consider petitions from 2009 grantees for waivers for positions lost to attrition after the grant is awarded on a case-by-case basis. In order to qualify for the waiver, the economic hardship must affect the entire public safety sector in their jurisdiction, not just the fire department.

"If we are not granted the waiver, the City will need to figure out how it is going to hire more fire fighters, because a large part of the fire department is close to retirement eligibility," says Monahan.

The Cincinnati Fire Department has 839 fire fighters. By the end of 2011, the department will lose at least 32 in mandatory retirements. Some 566 are over the age of 40 and 290 are over the age of 48. Just 47 are under the age of 30.

Two new ambulances, brought into service in January 2009, were initially funded by overtime, but the City began browning out between one and four fire stations per day beginning in August 2009 when overtime funds ran out. When an emergency call came in for a cardiac arrest, the nearest fire station just blocks away was closed and fire fighters responding from the next closest station arrived too late.

"It's hard to say for sure if this patient would have survived had the closer station been open, but, for sure, the patient's chances of survival would have been greater," says Monahan.

The more than $55 million awarded during the first round is about one-third of the amount of Fiscal Year 2009 funding that FEMA is expected to award. Other fire departments waiting to hear about the status of their applications include: Muncie, IN Local 1348; Orlando, FL Local 1365; Prince George's County, MD Local 1619; Los Angeles City, CA Local 112; Pensacola, FL Local 707; Nashville, TN Local 140; Green Bay, WI Local 141; San Diego, CA Local 145; and Phoenix, AZ Local 493.

Visit www.firegrantsupport.com for a current list of awards.

During the application period, the IAFF assisted affiliates, fire chiefs and city managers in developing their grant applications. More funding will be distributed by FEMA in subsequent rounds. The IAFF stands ready to help affiliates through the application process. SAFER grants for Fiscal Year 2010 could be made available as soon as this summer.

IAFF Re-Launches Campaign to Pass Bargaining Bill

Hearing in House Gets 2010 Effort Off to Strong Start

The congressional session that convened in January presents the IAFF with its best opportunity to finally enact a national collective bargaining bill for all fire fighters and emergency medical personnel. While significant obstacles remain, the pieces have begun to fall into place for congressional action this year.

Following on the success during the 110th Congress (2007-2008), the IAFF had hoped to move the bill quickly when the first session of the 111th Congress began in 2009. But the continued, vehement opposition from anti-labor senators, combined with the congressional gridlock over health care that stymied virtually every other major piece of legislation waylaid any chance of putting the bill on the fast track.

“With health care reform finally completed, we are once again asking congressional leaders to focus on the needs of our nation’s first responders,” explains IAFF General President Harold Schaitberger. “House Speaker Nancy Pelosi and Senate Majority Leader Harry Reid have assured me that they are committed to moving this legislation this year.”

The IAFF 2010 campaign for the Public Safety Employer-Employee Cooperation Act (HR 413) got off to strong start at a House Subcommittee hearing on March 10. Fort Worth Local President Jim Tate, speaking on behalf of the nation’s professional fire fighters, told the committee, “Withholding the right to collectively bargain is a denial of a measure of fairness and dignity to fire fighters who put their lives on the line day in and day out for the communities they serve.”

A total of five witnesses urged the committee to act quickly on the Cooperation Act, including Mayor David Smith of Lancaster, Ohio, who spoke about the close working relationship with his IAFF Local. Smith, a conservative Republican, advised the committee that they had nothing to fear from the collective bargaining process.

The successful hearing was followed quickly by an army of nearly 1,000 fire fighters who swarmed the Hill during the IAFF Legislative Conference to lobby for the measure. These grassroots lobbyists pushed the number of cosponsors of the legislation past the 200 mark, and left little doubt that the legislation continues to enjoy broad bipartisan support.

Acknowledging that they have little chance of defeating the bill in the House, opponents of the legislation have focused their efforts on the Senate, where the rules allow just one senator to delay action for days at a time. If anti-labor senators use all the procedural tactics at their disposal, they could potentially bring the Senate to a complete standstill for two weeks or more. With the Senate’s agenda already crowded with vital proposals to create jobs and must-pass appropriations and defense bills, the question of whether collective bargaining will pass may ultimately come down to the calendar.

“The question is not whether we have the votes to pass collective bargaining, but whether there are enough days in the year,” says Schaitberger. “Our allies in the Senate leadership are doing everything they can to assure that we get our long overdue vote this year. We will not rest until this bill is signed into law.” ■

Fire Fighter Legislation Sets Stage for Canadian Legislative Conference

The spring session of the Canadian Parliament began March 3 with a record number of pieces of fire fighter legislation before the House of Commons.

The legislation includes Bill C-495, An Act to amend the Statistics Act (National Office for Fire and Emergency Response Statistics), which was introduced in the House of Commons on March 11 by New Democratic Party (NDP) MP Don Davies (Vancouver-Kingsway, BC). Davies introduced the bill as a direct result of meetings with members of Vancouver, BC Local 18 in Vancouver and subsequent discussions with the IAFF Canadian Office.

“Our fire fighters and emergency responders put their lives on the line to keep Canadians safe,” Davies said as he announced the bill. “As Public Safety Critic, I want them to have all the tools they need to do their job. There is currently no source of comprehensive information on fire damage, fire deaths and emergency response times in Canada. My Bill would make the government track this important information that fire fighters need to keep themselves safe, while they work for the safety of others.”

Bill C-495 is in addition to nine private members’ motions that directly target issues on the IAFF 2010 Canadian legislative agenda and five other private members’ motions that support secondary IAFF issues.

NDP MP Irene Mathyssen (London-Fanshawe, ON) has introduced motion M-96, which also calls for the creation of a national office for fire service statistics, as well as M-419, which proposes amendments to the National Building Code that would improve fire fighter safety; M-420, which would establish third-party investigations of fire fighter line-of-duty deaths and M-421, which would establish a national Public Safety Officer Compensation (PSOC) benefit for the families of fallen fire fighters.

The NDP’s Libby Davies (Vancouver East, BC) has introduced M-188, which calls on the government to establish a national PSOC benefit and M-367, which would establish third-party investigations. MP Charlie Angus (Timmins-James Bay, ON), also a New Democrat, has introduced M-249, which would create a national fire statistics office, M-448, which proposes building code amendments, and M-449 on third party investigations.

“Our fire fighters and emergency responders put their lives on the line to keep Canadians safe,” Davies said as he announced the bill. “As Public Safety Critic, I want them to have all the tools they need to do their job

—MP Don Davies (Vancouver-Kingsway, BC)

The IAFF is prepared to support Bill C-495 and any of the private members’ motions should they be chosen to advance in the legislative process. These bills form an excellent backdrop to the 17th Canadian Legislative Conference April 25-28 at the Delta Ottawa Hotel in Ottawa.

Information about conference and hotel registration has been mailed to Canadian local presidents and secretaries. IAFF General President Harold Schaitberger and newly-elected General Secretary Treasurer Thomas Miller are scheduled to speak at the conference, which will also feature an interesting line-up of guest speakers, an issues focus session for delegates and a Parliamentary reception for MPs and senators.

Last year, 140 delegates attended the 16th Canadian Legislative Conference and conducted lobby meetings with more than 150 MPs. In the past seven years, the IAFF’s Canadian legislative program has yielded several key victories, including pension reform, Criminal Code amendments that protect fire fighters from the dangers of illegal drug operations and — most recently — $2.5 million in federal funding to conduct the IAFF Haz-Mat and CBRN response training program in Canada over five years. ■

IAFF Holds Successful Political Training Academy

IAFF members from 31 states and three Canadian provinces attended the IAFF 14th annual Political Training Academy (PTA) in Baltimore, Maryland, February 28-March 5. In addition, the 2010 class included five female IAFF members — the most ever — two of whom currently serve as presidents of their locals.

Participants spent the week learning to enhance their political knowledge and, in several cases, help IAFF members who are running for public office to structure and run more effective, winning campaigns. Eight of this year’s participants are candidates for office, while one was recently elected. Throughout the week, participants heard from a variety of presenters — each specializing in a specific area of campaigns — to help them improve their political skills and programs.

As part of the program - in addition to the classroom presentations - participants also took part in two mock campaign exercises: a mock press conference exercise where members practiced their public speaking skills in front of a camera and a campaign plan and budget for a mock congressional race.

IAFF General President Harold Schaitberger also addressed attendees and stressed the importance of political action at all levels of government and in both countries, and commended the attendees for their efforts in participating in the week-long program.

Over its 14-year history, the Political Training Academy has trained nearly 650 IAFF members or family members representing 49 of the 50 states, five of 10 Canadian provinces, and nearly 400 IAFF locals across the continent.

Today, more than 290 IAFF members or family members in the United States and Canada currently hold elected office. The Political Training Academy is an annual program that accepts up to 50 participants per year.

The online application process is open from Labor Day through early November each year. For more information, visit the IAFF web site or contact the IAFF Political Action Department at (202) 824-1582. ■

Participants in the week-long Political Training Academy emerge with the political knowledge and skills needed to run for public office and run effective political campaigns.

Florida Fire Fighters Thwart Attacks on Retirement Benefits

Many in the Florida state legislature seem determined to pass legislation that would put unwanted limits on fire fighter pensions and retirement plans. But the Florida Professional Firefighters' (FPF) campaign to defeat the proposed legislation is even more resolute.

"When it comes to protecting our members' benefits, the FPF has a very steadfast approach," says FPF President Bob Carver. "Thanks to the hard work of my executive board and our members, many of these damaging proposals have lost their legs."

The two most potentially harmful were Florida House Bills 1319 and 1543. HB 1543 would have eliminated all positions currently in the special risk class, except for fire fighters, law enforcement and correctional officers. It would have also capped the retirement benefit for those having less than 10 years of service to 70 percent, excluding overtime or additional compensation above the base salary.

"The Florida Professional Firefighters launched a campaign asking its members to contact their legislative leaders advising them not to support this legislation, and they did," says FPF Vice President Gary Rainey. "The sponsor of this legislation was so overwhelmed by phone calls and emails that he withdrew the bill."

FPF is hopeful that HB 1319 will have a similar fate. It currently does not appear on its house committee agenda. The bill proposes to redefine compensation to exclude overtime, annual leave or supplemental pay benefits. Additionally, it caps retirement benefits for those with less than 10 years of service at 80 percent, increases fire fighter (and other special risk participants) retirement age to 60 and 30 years of service, requires employees to contribute 1 percent to a current employee non-contributory system and other unwanted changes.

The third piece of legislation that was attracting watchful eyes was Senate Bill 1902. But when it was heard in committee last week, it did not receive enough votes to get out of committee. While the bill is not officially dead, it is, in effect, tabled.

Senate Bill 1902 focuses primarily on local pension plans. If passed, administrative control over these plans would be back in the hands of the participating municipalities. Current provisions related to extra pension benefits would be eliminated. Additionally, any participant with less than 10 years on the job would be capped at 70 percent and the benefit calculation would only include base pay. In other words, overtime or other sources of compensation would not be included.

FPF is also watching other potentially damaging bills, including SB 2022 which would require an employee retirement plan contribution of .25 percent, and HB 5701 which eliminates the health insurance subsidy provided by the Florida Retirement System. The subsidy provision allows retirees to receive up to $150 monthly to offset health care costs. ■

FIREPAC Century Club Award Winners Announced for 2009

The IAFF announced district, state and local 2009 FIREPAC Century Club Award winners during the 2010 Legislative Conference, March 14-18, in Washington, DC. The top award winners will be recognized at the IAFF 2010 Convention in San Diego in August.

The FIREPAC Century Club Awards program was established in 1993 to give special recognition to those IAFF affiliates that exceed their fundraising goal in terms of dollars raised and highest percentage over their FIREPAC goals.

Every year, the IAFF sets a FIREPAC fundraising goal for every local, which is determined by the number of local members times $12 a year — or a dollar a member a month.

This year, four districts, 17 state affiliates and 350 locals met or exceeded their fundraising goals.

The top Century Club Award winners for 2009 are listed below. For at least the last three years, the top award winners have been affiliates participating in a FIREPAC Check-Off program.

What Does Health Care Reform Mean for Fire Fighters?

After decades of debate and months of back-and-forth in Congress, on March 23, President Obama signed important health insurance reform into law. The IAFF was at the forefront of this effort, protecting our members interests every step of the way. We dramatically scaled back the proposed excise tax on high cost health plans, fought for benefits for early retirees, and worked to reduce the huge increases in insurance premiums that have plagued fire departments throughout the country.

Now that the bill has been signed into law, the big question is what does health care reform mean for fire fighters?

You Keep Your Current Health Care

The new law builds upon the parts of the current system that work well, and improves the things that don't. For most fire fighters, this means you will keep your current insurance. Nothing in this legislation will take away the benefits you already enjoy or limit your choice of doctors.

Excise Tax

The new law will not impose an excise tax on health care benefits until 2018, and even then it will apply only to the most expensive plans. The IAFF fought hard to eliminate the tax, and ended up reducing its size by 85 percent compared to the original Senate bill.

The minimum threshold for triggering the tax in 2018 will be $27,500 for family plans and $10,200 for individual plans. Separate dental and vision plans are not counted toward the thresholds.

Adjustments for plans that cover high-risk workers like fire fighters raise the thresholds to $30,950 for families and $11,850 for individuals. The law creates other adjustments for unusually high premium rate increases and plans in high-cost states. The IAFF will work to ensure that fire fighters can take advantage of these added adjustments.

These amounts are indexed at the Consumer Price Index (CPI) +1 percentage point from 2018 to 2019 and at CPI beginning in 2020.

The IAFF will be working closely with our affiliates, insurers and employers over the next several years to ensure that the excise tax does not impact any fire fighter health plans. But to be clear, the tax is assessed on insurance companies on the cost of the health plan that exceeds the threshold. There is no direct tax on the individual.

Affordability

Bringing down the cost of health care is one of the principal purposes behind health care reform. Premiums will be reduced by lowering administrative costs, increasing competition and insuring 94 percent of all Americans. Premiums have more than doubled over the last 10 years, increasing three times faster than wages. The status quo is simply unsustainable for you and your employer.

Expanding Access

9-1-1 emergency response systems are overburdened meeting the basic health care needs of the uninsured. Covering 94 percent of all Americans will give much-needed relief to fire departments and emergency rooms, but the bill will not put reimbursements to fire departments in jeopardy.

Cost

The new health care reform law is fully paid for, and will shrink the deficit. The new revenues come from increasing the Medicare tax on high-wage earners ($200,000 for individuals; $250,000 for families), squeezing savings from wasteful spending in Medicare, and slapping new fees on health insurance companies, drug companies and employers that refuse to offer coverage to their employees.

Other Benefits to You and Your Family

- Your son or daughter can stay on your health plan until their 26th birthday.
- Insurance companies are banned from dropping you when you get sick.
- Insurance companies must cover the full cost of preventive care, including annual physicals and children's immunizations.
- Insurance companies cannot deny coverage to children based on pre-existing conditions. By 2014, no one can be denied insurance coverage based on a pre-existing condition.
- Insurance companies cannot set lifetime limits on benefits and the new law regulates any annual limits that insurance companies may set.

The new law promotes wellness and preventative care, and encourages programs like the IAFF's Wellness-Fitness Initiative.

Retiree Benefits

The new law also creates a $5 billion temporary reinsurance program to reimburse employer health plans for 80 percent of early retiree (ages 55-64) health claims that cost more than $15,000 but less than $90,000 through the end of 2013.

For those on Medicare and who fall into the "doughnut hole" in prescription drug coverage, this year will receive a $250 check to help cover medical expenses. In 2001, those on Medicare will get a 50 percent discount on brand-name drugs and in 2020 the coverage gap will close for good.

The uninsured who can't get coverage because of a pre-existing condition can now buy insurance from the government until 2014 at a cost of less than $5,950 for individuals and $11,000 for families. In 2014 some may be eligible for coverage through a state-run exchange.

In addition, Medicare will deliver health care to senior citizens more efficiently. The law cuts wasteful spending and insurance company subsidies in the Medicare program to extend its solvency by nine years.

More Facts on Health Care Reform

Finally, here are a few clarifications to some misinformation on health care reform. Health care reform will not...

Increase middle-class taxes. Only singles and families earning more than $200,000 and $250,000 will pay more in taxes. If you make that much, starting in 2013, you will pay more in Medicare payroll taxes (2.35 percent, not the current 1.45 percent). You'll also pay an additional 3.8 percent tax on income from stock dividends, although this tax will not apply to individual retirement accounts, 457s or DROP plans.

Cover illegal immigrants. The law will not extend benefits to illegal immigrants. The law directs the Department of Health and Human Services to verify that uninsured Americans seeking coverage are citizens or otherwise in the United States lawfully.

Be a government takeover. Of the Americans who will get covered, 24 million will be covered through private insurance and 16 million will get coverage through Medicaid. The law builds on the three pillars of the U.S. health care system: employer-provided private insurance, Medicare for the elderly and Medicaid for the poor.

Cut Medicare. The law stops overpayments in the Medicare program. These reductions cannot reduce guaranteed Medicare benefits.

Bankrupt the States. The federal government will pay the full freight for expanding the Medicaid program for the first three years, 2014-2016. States will have to kick in 5 percent in 2017, 6 percent in 2018 and 7 percent in 2019. ■

IAFF and DHS to Build Next-Generation SCBA Prototype

The IAFF — under contract with the U.S. Department of Homeland Security (DHS) — has selected global safety equipment manufacturer MSA to build a prototype of a new self-contained breathing apparatus (SCBA).

The IAFF's next-generation SCBA prototype will rely on pressure-vessel technology, which promises to make fire fighting breathing apparatuses smaller, lighter and more efficient than SCBA currently in use.

MSA was selected to build the prototype after an extensive solicitation process.

"This is one of the most significant health and safety projects the IAFF has ever undertaken because this new SCBA technology will do more to protect the lives of fire fighters," says IAFF General President Harold Schaitberger.

The IAFF received more than $2.7 million from the DHS's Science and Technology Directorate to fund research and development of a next-generation SCBA. A fully functional prototype SCBA that incorporates the new pressure-vessel technology is to be field tested in fire and law enforcement departments later this year.

Development of a prototype SCBA by MSA is expected to demonstrate the superiority of new pressure-vessel technology that would replace the single air cylinder design of conventional fire fighting breathing apparatuses.

The new technology, referred to as a "flat pack," uses a special high-temperature lining in place of conventional aluminum liners used in current SCBA cylinders. These linings are then braided with Kevlar and wound with pre-impregnated carbon fiber. The entire array is inside a soft, flexible cover, allowing the design to flex horizontally and vertically at the connection points. ■

Safety Health and Survival Week is June 20-26, 2010

The IAFF and the International Association of Fire Chiefs (IAFC) are sponsoring the 2010 Safety, Health and Survival Week in partnership with more than 20 national fire service organizations.

Themed "Fit for Duty," this year's Safety, Health and Survival Week is designed to encourage fire departments to suspend all non-emergency activity and instead focus entirely on safety, health and wellness-related training and education until all shifts and personnel have taken part. An entire week is provided to ensure each shift and duty crew can spend one day focusing on these critical issues.

With more than 50 percent of fire fighter line-of-duty deaths caused by health and fitness-related issues, both the IAFF and IAFC believe it's imperative that there be a concentrated effort in implementing wellness and fitness programs.

Safety Week will address a variety of topics important to all fire fighters and EMS personnel and focuses on helping fire departments implement their own programs to prepare fire fighters and EMS personnel with healthy habits that reduce the risk of many chronic diseases, such as heart disease, hypertension, diabetes and certain cancers, thereby increasing the chance for a longer and healthier life.

Recommended areas of concentration include:

- General Health and Wellness
- Food and Nutrition
- Fitness
- Stress Management
- Smoking and Smokeless-Tobacco

Cessation

- Alcohol and Other Drugs
- Infectious Diseases
- Suicide Prevention

In addition, Safety Week is an opportunity to conduct comprehensive fitness assessments, medical screenings and educational programs that build and maintain medically and physically fit personnel and help in reducing health and fitness-related deaths or injuries.

Planning tools and resources are available online at www.iafc.org and include topic areas to support continuous efforts to promote personnel safety, health and wellness programs.

Updates are also available on Facebook, Twitter and LinkedIn.

Paul Hufnagel Elected IAFF 8th District Vice President

Michigan Professional Fire Fighters Union (MPFFU) President Paul Hufnagel has been elected IAFF 8th District Vice President. Hufnagel was nominated for the position after former 8th District Vice President Tommy Miller was elected IAFF General Secretary-Treasurer in January.

“On behalf of General Secretary-Treasurer Miller and the IAFF Executive Board, we congratulate Paul Hufnagel on his election and we look forward to working with him to accomplish the work of our great union,” says IAFF General President Harold Schaitberger.

“I want to thank our members in the 8th District for their support,” says Hufnagel. “During his time as District Vice President, General Secretary-Treasurer Miller worked hard to unite state associations, provide an increased level of membership services and protect fire fighter jobs. I plan to build on that as we move forward.”

Hufnagel began his career in the fire service and the labor movement in Lansing, Michigan. Soon after becoming a fire fighter there, he joined Lansing Local 421 and served in several positions on its executive board, including president from 1985-1994.

While serving as Local 421 president, Hufnagel worked hard to improve the pension plan, reduce the work week from 56 to 43 hours and maintain a competitive pay scale for his members.

In 1996, he was elected MPFFU president and fought to protect members’ collective bargaining rights.

“Michigan has had collective bargaining legislation on the books for 40 years,” says Hufnagel. “But, with these tough economic times, many local governments tried to overlook that.”

On the International level, Hufnagel has served as an IAFF District Field Service Representative since the program began in 2000.

Not only has Hufnagel been a strong leader within the IAFF, but he has also worked hard for the labor movement as a whole. He served on the Greater Lansing Central Labor Council Executive Board for 30 years — 10 as president. Additionally, he also served on the Michigan State AFL-CIO board for 10 years.

As required by the MPFFU Constitution and By-laws, Hufnagel has resigned from his position as president. MPFFU Secretary-Treasurer Terrence Chesney, with the assistance of the members of the MPFFU Executive Board, will assume the duties and responsibilities of the president until a new one is elected. ■

Scott Marks Named Assistant to the General President for Canadian Operations

Toronto, ON Local 3888 President Scott Marks has been selected as the new voice of Canada’s 21,000 IAFF members. IAFF General President Harold Schaitberger appointed Marks as the new Assistant for Canadian Operations following Jim Lee’s move to become Administrative Assistant and Chief Advisor to General Secretary-Treasurer Thomas Miller.

“Marks was chosen in recognition of his experience and his record of accomplishments as a union leader and for his future vision for the IAFF in Canada in political action, communications, education and other areas,” says Schaitberger.

“This is an amazing opportunity,” says

Marks. “I have worked hard for Toronto fire fighters and I’m looking forward to showing the same dedication to all Canadian members as I take on this new position.”

Marks joined the Toronto fire service in November 1981. He was promoted to captain in 1996 and acting district chief in 2009. He held numerous executive offices with the former Toronto Local 113 and with the amalgamated Toronto Local 3888 beginning in 1998, and was elected president of Local 3888 in 2002. He was acclaimed president in 2004, 2006 and 2008.

During Marks’s tenure as president of Local 3888, the local finalized arbitration of its first contract after amalgamation, and negotiated groundbreaking contracts and progressive working conditions — such as the 24-hour shift — and established the award-winning FireWatch magazine, among other advances.

Marks says he has three immediate goals as he begins his duties in the Canadian office: to encourage Canadian affiliates to use FIREPAC to their advantage and become more politically involved; to use new communication tools to facilitate the sharing of ideas and networking opportunities; and to make more leadership courses available to Canadian members. ■

Enter the IAFF Media Awards Contest

The IAFF is accepting entries in the 2010 Media Awards Contest, which honors communications, reporting and photography that best depict the professional and dangerous work of fire fighters and emergency medical personnel in North America.

The contest also recognizes exceptional work by IAFF affiliates in keeping their own members informed and in serving a vital role in their communities while generating positive public awareness for fire fighters. The stories and photos entered also bring to light important issues that affect the welfare of fire fighters throughout North America.

The deadline for entries in the 2010 Media Awards Contest is April 30, 2010. Rules and entry forms were sent to all IAFF affiliates leaders in March and are also available online at www.iaff.org.

IRS to Fix Glitch In HELPS Implementation

The following information is provided by the National Conference on Public Employee Retirement Systems (NCPERS) regarding the Healthcare Enhancement for Local Public Safety (HELPS) benefit and IRS notifications received by some retired members.

Last summer, NCPERS became aware that the IRS is requesting additional information from retired public safety officers (PSOs) who have taken advantage of the $3,000 tax break under the HELPS Retirees Act, which allows a yearly disbursement of up to $3,000 pre-tax from a governmental defined-benefit pension 403(b) or 457 plan to retired PSOs for use toward health care insurance or long-term care premiums.

NCPERS members have reported that the IRS has sent letters requesting additional information to some retirees who claimed this tax benefit on their 2007 tax returns. Initially, the recipients of the letters were concerned that they were being audited by the IRS. However, the truth is that the letters are seeking additional information because the IRS's computer system hasn't caught up with the law yet. The law became effective January 1, 2007.

The IRS uses a computer program that matches individual income tax returns against other information reported to the IRS to verify that income is reported and deductions are taken correctly. An initial notice (CP 2501 Notice, in IRS jargon) requests additional information due to the discrepancy that the computer program identified and a tax examiner could not resolve. If the taxpayer provides an acceptable explanation for the discrepancy, the case is closed. Letting the IRS know that you're an eligible retired PSO and the discrepancy is due to the HELPS retiree tax benefit closes the vast majority of these cases.

However, if there are further issues, the IRS may send a second notice (CP 2000 Notice) asking the taxpayer to verify the income, credits and deductions reported on his or her tax return because they're different from the information the IRS received from other sources. The CP 2000 Notice is only a proposal that offers a taxpayer an opportunity to disagree, partially agree or agree with the proposed changes. The IRS hasn't assessed any additional tax at that time.

The IRS is aware of the issues surrounding the identification of PSOs and the treatment of retirement distributions as it relates to HELPS retiree income exclusion on electronically filed returns. The IRS hopes that the necessary programming will be in place for tax year 2010, allowing it to retrieve the data, match the data to the tax return and potentially eliminate unnecessary taxpayer contact.

In the meantime, to limit the number of unnecessary contacts with PSOs, the Internal Revenue Manual has been modified to provide instructions to the tax examiners to help minimize the number of notices issued regarding the HELPS retirees exclusion.

The IRS tells NCPERS that it is working diligently to ensure that the programming needed to exclude these cases from the underreporting program takes place. If you are a PSO and receive one of these notices from the IRS, don't panic. It is most likely due to the outdated IRS computer program. Advise your participants to follow the instructions on the notice letter and notify the pension plan.

IAFF-Motorcycle Group Rally

IAFF Motorcycle Group (IAFF-MG) members and members of other fire fighter motorcycle groups are invited to fly their colors at the 4th Annual IAFF-MG National Rally to be held in Fayetteville, Arkansas, June 3-6, 2010.

"When the IAFF-MG formed, we recognized right away that many IAFF member fire fighters were already members of other national or local fire fighter motorcycle groups," says IAFF-MG National Coordinator Michael Crouse. "That's why we wanted to allow fire fighters to have dual memberships and a patch to display their IAFF-MG membership on their other club's vest."

IAFF-MG Committee Chairman and IAFF 7th District Vice President Ricky Walsh is also a member of the Spokane, Washington Chapter of the Renegade Pigs and has always flown the colors for both groups.

Walsh says, "As with other fire fighter motorcycle groups, the camaraderie among the IAFF-MG members is great, and we do what we can to make fire fighters who are also members of other groups feel welcome. I hope we'll see some of them at the National Rally."

The IAFF-MG's 2009 National Rally was its most successful to date, with more than 800 bikers from across the United States and Canada participating, as well as IAFF and IAFF-MG members from other national biker clubs, including Wind & Fire, the Renegade Pigs, The Ax Men and The Red Nights.

In addition, IAFF and IAFF-MG members belong to local motorcycle clubs, such as the San Antonio Fire Fighters, Portland, ME Firefighters Club, Boston FD Bike Club, Riders of Fire and the FDNY Fire Riders. As part of the IAFF-MG's 2009 National Rally, the IAFF-MG teamed up with the Local Chapter of Wind & Fire to coordinate one of their days while in Colorado Springs. The IAFF-MG 2009 Rally, the Ride to Remember and the Fallen Fire Fighter Memorial Service were well attended and well received by all.

IAFF-MG committee member Karl Kuss is a member of the IAFF Motorcycle Group as well as a member of the Axemen M/C in metro Detroit. "When we established a constitution and by-laws for the Axemen, it didn't allow for participation in another motorcycle club," says Kuss.

Kuss adds, "However, it does allow for members to be a part of their local H.O.G. or a motorcycle group, such as the IAFF-MG." Members may still fly their colors and wear a smaller version of the but only IAFF members can post comments to the blog entries by logging on. The comment period is 72 hours.

During this year's rally, riders will wind through the Ozark Mountains. Participants coming from the south should take Highway 540 to Fayetteville. The 38-mile ride has no billboards, 63 bridges and lots of great scenery.

Riders may also want to take Scenic Byway 71 from Alma to Fayetteville. Participants will get a close-up view of the Ozarks. The road overlooks many creeks and cliffs. To join the IAFF-MG or register for the IAFF-MG 4th National Rally in June, visit www.iaffmg.org.

Fire fighters who can't make the National Rally can consider participating in one of the nearly 40 district-based rides that take place throughout the year.

The IAFF Motorcycle Group (IAFF-MG), created through a resolution at the 2004 IAFF Convention, is designed to bring together active, retired and alumni members and members of recognized affiliates from across the International and to promote fraternalism among the IAFF's ranks. The IAFF-MG is open to IAFF members who own and ride motorcycles. ■

Longest-Serving IAFF Officer Retires

When Frank Montanaro's name is heard in Rhode Island, it is recognized by anyone who has been involved in the state's labor movement. He is most widely known as the president of the Rhode Island State Association of Fire Fighters (RISAFF), a position he held from 1972 until his retirement in March 2010.

"Montanaro is not only distinguished for being the longest-serving IAFF officer, but also for his accomplishments as a fire fighter, lobbyist and labor leader," says IAFF General President Harold Schaitberger.

"Just about every significant benefit that Rhode Island fire fighters have, we owe to Frank," says current RISAFF President Paul Reed.

Montanaro entered the labor movement first as a union truck driver in 1957. After driving for three years, he became a fire fighter and a member of Cranston, RI Local 1363.

"When I came on, Local 1363 — like many other unions around the state — was just beginning to organize," says RISAFF

President Emeritus Montanaro. "I wanted to be a part of the process and do my part for my fellow fire fighters, so I immediately got involved in union business."

In 1961, Montanaro was elected to his first labor position as vice president of Local 1363. Simultaneously, he began working with the RISAFF as a lobbyist. One of the first pieces of legislation he worked on was collective bargaining.

Montanaro became president of Local 1363 in 1964 and served until 1981. During his tenure, Montanaro established a solid set of by-laws, improved membership services and negotiated a better system for firehouse transfers and promotions based on seniority.

While still president of Local 1363, Montanaro was elected president of the RISAFF in 1972. Montanaro would soon expand his involvement in the labor movement by joining the state AFL-CIO Executive Board in 1976.

As the needs of the state association and its membership grew, Montanaro retired from Engine 1 in 1981. The RISAFF then became a full time, full service organization dedicated to the welfare and safety of Rhode Island fire fighters.

Montanaro

When Montanaro began as state president, there were less than 1,000 members. Today it's grown to 2,300 members.

In 1979, Montanaro was instrumental in passing a state law guaranteeing the children of fire fighters killed in the line of duty would get four free years of tuition at a public institution.

He also worked to ensure that spouses of fallen fire fighters received 50 percent of the deceased fire fighter's salary each year unless they remarry — 30 percent if the death was not in the line of duty.

Other accomplishments include the passing of presumptive legislation (heart, lung, infectious diseases and cancer), ensuring disabled fire fighters receive 66.75 percent of their salary in disability benefits and making fire fighters eligible for retirement after 20 years of service.

In 1992, Montanaro was elected president of the Rhode Island AFL-CIO, which represents approximately 90,000 workers.

When Montanaro retired, fire fighters adopted a resolution at the 2010 Rhode Island State Association of Fire Fighters Annual Convention declaring Montanaro president emeritus of the Rhode Island State Association of Fire Fighters.

Montanaro now hopes to dedicate more time to his wife, his children Laurie, Gina, Diana and Frank II, and his four grandchildren. ■

General President Harold Schaitberger was joined by IAFF 12th District Vice President Larry Osborne to visit Metro-Dade Local 1403 President (and former IAFF 12th District Vice President) Dominick Barbera, and Local 1403 fire fighters at Station 21. In addition to a tour of the fire station, Schaitberger participated in a ride along aboard Fire Boat 1.

While in Honolulu, Hawaii, for the Federal, State and Provincial Fire Fighters spring meeting, President Schaitberger attended the dedication ceremony for the new McCully-Moilili Fire Station, located close to Waikiki. In need of significant renovations, the station was demolished in 2007. On April 1, 2010, the McCully Fire Station was renamed the McCully-Moilili Fire Station in recognition of the Moilili community it serves and protects. The new station houses an engine and a ladder company, each assigned with a crew of fire fighters.

Also in Florida, Schaitberger and 12th District Vice President Osborne visited with Hollywood, FL Local 1375 President Russ Chard, Secretary Daniel Martinez, Vice President Eric Busenbarrick, Trustee Armando Sanchez and Local 1375 member fire fighters at their Station 5.
